"THE CLUB HAS HAD MANY SPECIAL EUROPEAN NIGHTS THROUGHOUT OUR HISTORY AND THAT WAS ANOTHER ONE THAT WILL LIVE LONG IN THE MEMORY FOR ALL OF US"

Good afternoon and welcome back to Wembley after a memorable win here just a few days ago.

Firstly, I want to thank you for your support on Wednesday evening against Real Madrid.

We had almost 85,000 people here and the atmosphere was incredible from start to finish which gave us a huge lift. You deserved the celebrations and I hope you can recreate the same noise and passion again today. The club has had many special European nights throughout our history and that was another one that will live long in the memory for all of us.

I'm so proud of all my players for their performance and efforts on the night. We beat the European champions, a top side, in order to achieve our objective of qualifying from the group stage and with two games left to play which is a fantastic achievement. Our aim now is to win the group and then we will see what the knockout stages bring.

We have come a long way and to see the players believing in their potential and responding in such emphatic style gives me great satisfaction. Confidence is high and we are showing that we have a winning mentality. We need to keep it up now and carry on our journey both in Europe and in the domestic competitions. We are moving in the right direction and it was the perfect reaction to put two bad results behind us. It shows our character and our quality.

As soon as the game ended, thoughts immediately turned to this afternoon's game. We must keep up our momentum today as we welcome Crystal Palace and their manager Roy Hodgson. They will provide us with a different kind of test as they look to move themselves out of the relegation zone.

They showed their determination last weekend against West Ham in order to claim a point with the very last kick so we must maintain our level from beginning to end in order to get back to winning ways in the Premier League.

Please join us today as we pay our respects to all those who have made the ultimate sacrifice in armed conflict around the world. We shall observe a period of silence before kick-off and are honoured to welcome members of our Armed Forces Spurs Official Supporters' Club to the match.

Today marks the end of another busy run of fixtures and it is important we sign off for the international break with a win.

Enjoy the game.

EYOMA'S DELIGHT AT WORLD CUP GLORY

Overjoyed TJ Eyoma has revealed how some friendly words from Spurs team-mate and fellow youth World Cup winner Kyle Walker-Peters helped he and Tashan Oakley-Boothe reach the top of the mountain with England Under-17s..

TJ and Tashan were part of the Young Lions squad that lifted the FIFA Under-17 World Cup in India last weekend, coming back from 2-0 down to beat Spain 5-2 in a thrilling final.

Right-back TJ, who was on the bench in the final after featuring against Brazil in the semis, couldn't keep the smile off his face when he and Tashan returned to Hotspur Way with their winners' medals this week.

And he was quick to explain how a chat with 20-year-old full-back Kyle, who won the Under-20 World Cup along with on-loan Josh Onomah earlier this year, provided some added encouragement ahead of what he described as a tough tournament campaign.

"I'm over the moon, it's a great feeling and I feel like I've done my family – and hopefully the country – proud," beamed the 17-year-old. "I thought we were worthy winners. It was a difficult tournament but we played in our style, stuck to the game plan and scored the goals to win it.

"Tash did very well – he contributed massively to the team with good passes and good overall play. Tash actually spoke to Kyle before we left and he gave us some extra motivation, saying that they (England Under-20s) won it, so we had to win it! He told us to prepare well for every game and take in the whole experience."

While Tashan started all but one of England's seven matches, TJ (above, right) made three appearances overall.

"I was delighted to start the first two games, but it was obviously disappointing that I was suspended for the third match and then I jarred my knee in training when I blocked a shot before the last 16 game against Japan," he explained.

"It was disappointing that I got injured but against Brazil I was able to play and it was a good experience for me, playing against a top side and getting the win. We scored at least three goals in all the games except one and that was very important – I thought it put fear into the other teams."

NFL Commissioner visits new stadium site

Roger Goodell, Commissioner of the National Football League, joined our Chairman Daniel Levy on the site of our new 61,500-seater stadium last weekend to see first-hand the progress being made.

They were joined on site by Mark Waller, NFL Executive Vice-President, as well as the Club's Executive Director Donna-Maria Cullen. Next year will mark the start of our 10-year partnership that will see NFL International Series matches staged at our new home, which will boast purpose built facilities for teams of both sports including dedicated entrances, dressing rooms and media facilities.

London's biggest Premier League club stadium will also feature a retractable grass field with an artificial surface underneath that will be used for NFL games as part of the Club's commitment to creating a major sports and entertainment venue.

Roger Goodell said: "The new Tottenham Hotspur stadium is clearly going to be a world-class venue. We are very pleased with how closely we have been able to work with the Club, and are optimistic that the broader regeneration plan will make for an extraordinary experience for NFL fans."

Daniel Levy said: "It is always a pleasure to welcome the NFL to Tottenham and for them to see the vision that we share becoming a reality right in front of us.

"We have worked closely with them throughout this project and their involvement will play a significant part in helping us create one of the most compelling venues for sports and entertainment in the world, right here in Tottenham."

Spurs take on Arsenal at the 1970 tournament

BUNCH OF FIVES

Andy Greeves tells a story from our vast history that has a link to our matchday opponents. This afternoon, he looks back on our displays in the Evening Standard Five-A-Side Football Championships that saw us compete alongside other London clubs including Crystal Palace between 1954 and 1995.

On May 5, 1954, Empress Hall at Earls Court staged the inaugural Evening Standard Five-A-Side Football Championships, as London's top professional clubs went head-to-head in indoor competition. It was the first of 29 tournaments that took place between 1954 and 1995, with breaks between 1961 and 1966 and then again from 1986 to 1992 in this otherwise annual spectacle.

We made an instant impression in that first tournament, beating West Ham United 4-3 in the first round, while we eliminated Arsenal in the semi-final. Charlton Athletic proved too strong for us in the final though and ran out 3-1 winners.

The event was moved to Harringay Arena in 1955, the year we went down to a 4-0 defeat to West Ham in the semi-final. Our wait for five-a-side glory came to an end in 1956 though, as we strung together three impressive victories to lift the trophy. Having been given a bye in the first round, we ran out 2-0 winners against previous champions Charlton in the second round followed by a 2-1 triumph over Queens Park Rangers in the semi-final. Cup holders Fulham lay await in the final, but we defeated them 2-1 to get our hands on the silverware. Our victorious squad featured Ron Reynolds, Peter Baker, Jim Iley, Johnny Brooks, Terry Dyson and Johnny Hills.

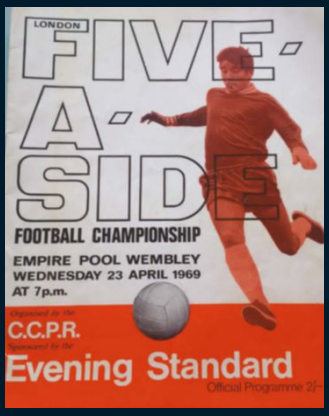
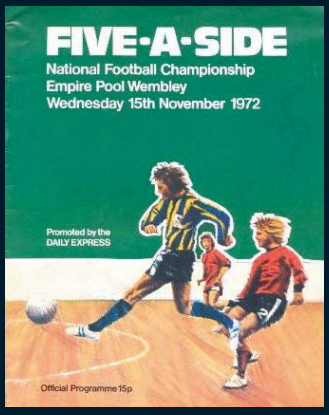
Crystal Palace began flexing their own muscles in the competition over the next couple of years, reaching the semi-final in 1957 and the final the following year, where they were beaten 1-0 by Leyton Orient. Earlier in the 1958 tournament, Orient racked up a 3-1 victory over us in round two, while Chelsea had beaten us 2-1 at the same stage a year earlier.

In 1959, the Five-a-Side Football Championships moved venues again, with Wembley's Empire Pool its new setting. Crystal Palace found the surroundings very much to their liking, with Johnny Byrne and Roy Summersby scoring in their 2-1 victory over us in the second round on May 5 that year.





Dyson, who got our consolation goal in that game, was one of five players in our six-man squad that would go on to feature during our Double-winning season of 1960-61. John Hollowbread, Ron Henry, Danny Blanchflower and Baker all played, while Brooks was also included.

Byrne scored the only goal of the game in Palace's semi-final victory over Arsenal and got a hat-trick in the 4-1 hammering of Charlton Athletic in the final as the Eagles won the competition for the first time. Ray Colfar was also on target against the Addicks.

Charlton avenged their defeat to Palace in the final of 1959 by knocking them out at the second round stage a year later. We again named a strong squad for the tournament, with Dyson, Henry and Hollowbread selected once again along with John Ryden, Cliff Jones and Terry Medwin

Jones proved to be the star of the competition on May 10, 1960, scoring twice in our 3-1 triumph over Millwall in the second round, while fellow Welshman Medwin was also on target. He got a hat-trick as we beat Charlton 3-1 in the semi-final and also played a key role in the final, as a brace from Medwin and a further strike from Ryden saw us secure the trophy with a 3-1 victory. Both ourselves and Palace were knocked out in the second round of the competition when it resumed after a seven-year break on May 10, 1967.

The Eagles made it to the final of the 1968 competition, losing 2-1 to Charlton while we were beaten by Leyton Orient in the second round. On April 23, 1969, the Eagles went one

COURT-SIDE ACTION

In addition to the Evening Standard Five-A-Side Football Championships, we also competed in the Daily Express National Five-a-Side Football Championships, which was staged at Empire Pool/ Wembley Arena between 1968 and 1986. We were winners of the competition in 1972, as we beat Ipswich Town on penalties in the final while we were runners-up to Leyton Orient two years later. Crystal Palace also lifted the trophy, with their success coming in 1978.

better by the winning the competition. They secured a 2-0 victory over us in the second round that year, also beating Arsenal and Millwall. Their squad, that beat Brentford 2-0 in the final, was John Jackson, John Sewell, David Payne, Steve Kember, Cliff Jackson and Roger Hoy – who had left us for the Eagles in September, 1968.

We were runners-up in the 1970 tournament, going down to a 2-1 defeat to West Ham United in the final. Palace were semi-finalists in 1971 while we got to the last four of the competition in 1973 and 1975, where we lost to Millwall on both occasions. The tournament venue, the Empire Pool, became known as Wembley Arena from 1978 onwards – the year that Millwall beat Queens Park Rangers in the final.

We were knocked out of the 1980 tournament by QPR at the first route stage, en route to the Hoops claiming the trophy that year. They became the most successful team in the competition's history at that stage, having also won it in 1971, 1972 and 1974. The West Londoners secured their fifth triumph in the competition in 1985, meaning they stand alone on the winners' list. Charlton Athletic, Fulham, Millwall and West Ham United all both won the tournament on three occasions, while ourselves and Palace, along with Leyton Orient and Wycombe Wanderers were two-time winners.

Arsenal managed their one and only success in the tournament in 1981, inflicting a 4-1 defeat on us at the semi-final stage. Palace made it to the last four in 1983, where they were beaten on penalties by competition runners-up Brentford. We were finalists in 1984, beating the Eagles 3-2 in the quarter finals before going down to a defeat to West Ham United in the final.

Both ourselves and Crystal Palace lost in the first round of the competition in 1985, prior to the tournament taking a seven-year break.

When the competition resumed in 1993, Watford added their name to the list of tournament winners. Ourselves and Palace had again fallen at the first round stage, losing to Charlton Athletic and Wimbledon respectively. Wycombe Wanderers won the last two tournaments in 1994 and 1995, as we were knocked out of the competition in both of those years by the Dons.

It may come as a surprise to some people to know that Moussa Sissoko is one of only two players in our squad who have featured in every match for us so far this season, including the player himself.

Obviously, the French international is aware that he has appeared in all 16 of our games to date – 10 in the Premier League, four Champions League matches and two Carabao Cup ties – with Eric Dier the only other player to match that feat.

But he does admit a touch of surprise that he has been involved in every game, simply due to his struggles at times last season, when Moussa took a while to adapt to his new surroundings following his arrival from Newcastle United.

The powerhouse midfielder joined us in the closing moments of transfer deadline day last August, which is never ideal preparation for a player wanting to make an impression at a new club. He did show glimpses of form during the course of 2016-17 and still featured 34 times in our colours, but it's been a different story this term.

As Moussa admits, he feels far more settled this year and is relishing the opportunities he's been handed by Mauricio Pochettino, repaying him with some commanding performances across a variety of midfield roles, chipping in with a couple of goals along the way. Certainly, knowing he has the faith of his manager has gone a long way to helping the experienced 28-year-old start to flourish in this great Spurs side.

"If I compare it to last season, then yes maybe there is a little bit of surprise that I have played in every game," confirmed the former Toulouse man. "But the situation is very different this year.

"THIS YEAR I HAD A GOOD PRE-SEASON. I FEEL TOTALLY COMFORTABLE WITH THE TEAM THIS SEASON AND WILL KEEP WORKING, KEEP FIGHTING AND HELPING MY TEAM-MATES AS MUCH AS I CAN"

"As I've said before, when I joined Spurs on the last day of the transfer window, I didn't have a chance to have a pre-season with the club and that really does have an effect. It wasn't an easy season for me but in football you can have some good moments and some bad ones and you have to deal with whatever comes along.

"Of course, this year I had a good pre-season with my team-mates and that helps, it makes a big difference. I feel a lot more confident now. I'm happy with what I'm doing and so is the manager and his staff and hopefully that can be seen on the pitch.

"I feel totally comfortable with the team this season and will keep working, keep fighting and helping my team-mates as much as I can."

Wednesday night was a prime example of Moussa helping out. Although he wasn't selected in the starting line-up against Real Madrid for our Champions League Group H clash here at Wembley, he was unexpectedly thrust into the action when Toby Alderweireld was forced off injured as early as the 24th minute.

Once again, Mauricio turned to Moussa to help the cause and he didn't let us down, quickly adapting to the pace of the game and playing his part in what turned out to be a momentous result as we defeated the reigning European champions 3-1.

It was a fantastic night for all of a Spurs persuasion and the midfielder was delighted to get the opportunity to be a part of it, while obviously sparing a thought for his Belgian team-mate.

"Unfortunately, Toby had to come off and we hope his injury isn't too bad, but I had the chance to come on and I was fit and ready to go, which was important in a game like that," he added.

"It was an amazing performance, to beat the champions of Europe was a fantastic moment for us. We wanted to produce a big game and to show everyone that we can compete against the best in the world. We did that and we deserved to get the three points.

"Not a lot of people expected us to beat Real Madrid so convincingly, but we showed as a team that we can compete at that level. It was a victory for all the players, staff and, of course, the fans. We work very hard every day to produce a performance like that, which is why we are all so happy."

While Harry Kane has been receiving many plaudits this term, Wednesday night saw other players hit the headlines with Dele Alli and Christian Eriksen sharing the goals. Ask Spurs fans who their man of the match was and you would probably get plenty of different answers, such was the manner of the team display on the night.

"Harry may be one of the best players in the world at the moment but we have a lot of talent in this squad and we showed that again on Wednesday," said Moussa. "Everyone can play well, score goals and assist too and when you're a big team, that's what you need.

CAREER SO FAR

EARLY DAYS

Born in Le Blanc-Mesnil, a north-east suburb of Paris, he spent his childhood footballing days with nearby youth teams Esperance Aulnay and Red Star, before heading south to join the youth set up at Toulouse.

SENIOR DEBUT

Worked his way up the ranks at Toulouse, signing professional midway through the 2006-07 season. Made his senior debut as a substitute against Valenciennes on August 4, 2007 and was involved in a Champions League play-off against Liverpool just 11 days later.

TOULOUSE TO TOON

Made almost 200 league appearances for Toulouse in his six-year stay, before moving to Newcastle United in January, 2013. Scored twice on his home debut at St James' Park that month against Chelsea.

"WE WANTED TO PRODUCE A BIG GAME AND SHOW EVERYONE THAT WE CAN COMPETE AGAINST THE BEST IN THE WORLD"

I think we have improved as a squad from last season, but we can still get better."

But while the glow of a Champions League victory over Real Madrid will take a long time to fade, there is no time to rest on our laurels. It's Premier League action again this afternoon, as Roy Hodgson brings his Crystal Palace side to Wembley Stadium and Moussa knows we have to forget about the last game already.

"We were able to relax and enjoy the Real win the day after with our families, but after that we were immediately back in training and focussing on today's match," he added.

"This game will be totally different from Wednesday and we have to make sure we are switched on this afternoon. Palace are a dangerous team, they are bottom of the table so they will be doing everything to try to get a result. We have to focus our minds, prepare well and look to win the game."

LONDON BOUND

Captained the Magpies on occasions during three years in the north east, but couldn't help them avoid relegation in 2015-16. Left Newcastle to join us in August, 2016, his debut coming at Stoke City the following month. Has featured 49 times for in all competitions.

ALLEZ LES BLEUS

Played at all youth levels for France, winning his first senior cap against Faroe Islands in October, 2009. Now has 53 caps and featured for France at the 2014 World Cup and Euro 2016, playing in the final in the latter.

LATEST SPURS CENTURIONS

Over the last couple of weeks, Toby Alderweireld, Heung-Min Son and Ben Davies have all surpassed the 100-game mark in a Spurs shirt.

Centre-half Toby reached the milestone in our 4-1 home win over Liverpool in the Premier League, with attacker Sonny quickly following suit when we faced West Ham United in the Carabao Cup. Then it was left-back Ben's turn at Manchester United last weekend.

It means we now have 12 players in the squad who have played 100 games or more and, in the case of Mousa Dembele, Hugo Lloris and Jan Vertonghen, over 200 matches. Here's what today's panel had to say on the subject...

What does it say about the club that we now have 12 players who have made 100 appearances or more?

HUGO: "It's important for the club to have players who are committed to being involved and for the future results of the team, it will help us to make some things stronger. We always repeat that togetherness is important at the club and this is real proof that the players are enjoying their time at Tottenham and are ready to continue to compete and to help the team to reach success."

LUKE: "It's fantastic for so many of the players to have reached 100 games, but that's what hard graft gets you. It shows that when you work hard, you reap the rewards. They haven't reached 100 games by chance. It's down to all the effort they've put in and the fact that they've been performing well. It's also good to have a strong core and we definitely have that here. In terms of the team moving forward, if you have that solid base, you can grow so it's very important to have quite a few players that have hit that mark and I'm sure they're very proud."

DAVID: "The fact that we have that number of players who have been at the club for a while now just helps around the training ground. I know from my time as a player that you make really good friends within the club and that'll be the case now. They're all very close in that group, it's a big squad with quality in depth in all positions and to have that many players who have played that many matches means they all must be getting a decent amount of game time, which is a balancing act on its own. That's another terrific thing that the manager has been able to do, to keep all these players happy because obviously only 11 can start a match at the same time."

Toby Alderweireld and Heung-Min Son have both reached the landmark

What about our latest three centurions – Toby, Sonny and Ben?

HUGO: "It's good for them because they can feel important in the club, inside the building and the squad, so it's a positive for the team. One important factor in football is to care for your body because you play so many games in a year and you try to stay fit all season. That's why the coaching staff are very important because they help us in that way. As a player, you prepare yourself to be fit and to be competitive for as long as possible during the season."

LUKE: "They've done well, they've worked hard and they've got their chances so I'm not surprised to see them reach 100 games and I'm sure they're delighted to achieve it so quickly as well. The schedule for footballers is very hectic, but they're not just fit to be able to cope with that, they're putting in top, top performances as well so full credit to them really. Each season it's 40 or 50 games of high-intensity work, pressing and tackling with ridiculous quality on the ball. That's why they're there."

DAVID: "In this day and age it's very good for those boys. Toby doesn't really miss games – obviously he might do now after coming off against Real Madrid in the week but generally he's very reliable, Sonny had a problem with his arm in the summer but the fact is that they've all been largely able to keep themselves fit and available for selection. The same goes for Ben, who has come into the team and performed really well. It shows a great attitude."

Ben Davies is the latest to join the century club

How much does the longevity of players' tenures here help with continuity?

HUGO: "I think it's the basics in football. We all need stability and we have all the ingredients to improve individually and collectively with the facilities, the manager and the coaching staff – they can all help us to improve and as players we understand that. We just need to keep working hard, to develop our skills together and to make the team even better. We can see the improvement through the last three seasons – it's a massive step forward and we need to keep going now."

LUKE: "I think it definitely helps. The longer you're here and the longer you work with the same players and the same staff, you can take your game to another level because you already know all the basics."

DAVID: "Certainly, continuity is key and obviously we have a very stable set-up at the club which helps the players. The fact that the results have been very good over the last couple of years means the squad is generally stable and it's a very obvious sign that the players are happy in that environment and the management are happy with the players. It's yet another sign of things going in the right direction at the club, that you have that number of players who have been at Spurs for that long, learning with the ethos of the manager and all knowing exactly what they're doing."

REMEMBER WHEN...

...we first met Crystal Palace in the Football League. It wasn't as long ago as you might imagine in fact, taking place on August 23, 1969. While we've been playing league football since 1908 and Palace first joined the Third Division in 1920, the two sides continued to avoid each in the league pyramid until the 1969-70 season, when Palace were promoted to the top flight. Under the guidance of manager Bert Head, the Eagles started the season well, drawing 2-2 with Manchester United and beating Sunderland 2-0, both at Selhurst Park. They then lost to Everton and drew with Sunderland, before entertaining a Spurs team which had beaten Burnley twice but lost to Leeds United and Liverpool. We overcame Palace in south London though, goals from Jimmy Pearce and Martin Chivers securing the win and we repeated that scoreline in our first ever home league game against them on Boxing Day, 1969 – Alan Mullery and Steve Perryman on target.

Jimmy Pearce

ON THIS DAY
NOVEMBER 5

SPURS 2-1 CHELSEA

When Chelsea visited the Lane on Bonfire Night in 2006, we were looking at a winless run in the league against them which stretched back to 1990. But there were certainly fireworks in N17 on this occasion, as we ended the unwanted sequence, even coming back from a goal down in the process. Claude Makelele had volleyed Chelsea ahead on 15 minutes, but Michael Dawson headed us level 10 minutes later. Then seven minutes after the restart, Robbie Keane bamboozled Khalid Boulahrouz down the left and crossed for Aaron Lennon, who side-stepped Ashley Cole and fired home the winner.

SPURS 3-0 BURNLEY

Ourselves and Burnley had enjoyed some great battles at the top of Division One and in FA Cup action during the 1960s, but we were fighting for Second Division points when we met on this day in 40 years ago. Having beaten Bristol Rovers 9-0 and Stoke City 3-1 in our previous games, we continued our good form with a 3-0 victory over the Clarets, Glenn Hoddle, Neil McNab and Peter Taylor all on target. It was McNab's first goal for the club.

SPURS 5-1 FULHAM

Having won 11 of our previous 15 matches when Fulham visited the Lane on this day in 1960, we were confident of adding to our points tally. The season in which we went on to win the Double had started in incredible fashion and sure enough, Fulham were unable to end our run. A brace apiece from Cliff Jones and Les Allen plus a strike from John White gave us a commanding 5-1 win. However, the following week our unbeaten sequence came to end at the hands of Sheffield Wednesday, although it mattered not in the long run.

MANAGER:

ROY HODGSON

Vastly experienced former England manager Roy Hodgson was appointed as Palace boss following the early season departure of Dutchman Frank De Boer. Hodgson has managed across Europe, including at Inter Milan and a spell as Switzerland manager. He took over from Fabio Capello to manage the Three Lions between 2012 and 2016.

FORM GUIDE:

The Eagles started the season in disastrous fashion, losing the first four games without scoring a goal. This led to the aforementioned departure of summer arrival Frank De Boer. Roy Hodgson's arrival did not lead to an immediate upturn, although their battle at the bottom of the table was helped by a victory over Chelsea and a 97th-minute equaliser last week against West Ham.

13 WAYNE HENNESSEY

POSITION: GOALKEEPER
DATE OF BIRTH: 24.01.87
Welshman Hennessey signed for the Eagles in January, 2014, and quickly established himself as the club's regular No.1. He enjoyed his first season in South London, helping Palace get to the FA Cup final while also performing well as Wales reached the semi-finals of Euro 2016.

1 JULIAN SPERONI

POSITION: GOALKEEPER
DATE OF BIRTH: 18.05.79
The popular stopper has played more games in goal for Palace than any other player and is now in his 14th season at Selhurst Park. The winner of the Palace Player of the Year award on four occasions, Speroni has found himself back in the first team of late after starting the season as a back-up to Wayne Hennessey.

POSITION: DEFENDER
DATE OF BIRTH: 29.10.89
Ward was signed from Portsmouth in 2012 for £400,000 – a figure that looks increasingly impressive the longer he continues to play as he does. The right-back is the model of consistency and durability. He can also fill it at left-back or midfield if he is needed elsewhere and Ward is now Palace's leading all-time Premier League appearance holder.

TACKLER IN CHIEF

Crystal Palace's Ghanaian international Jeffrey Schlupp has recorded a total of 20 tackles in the Premier League this season – the highest number in the Eagles' ranks.

POSITION: DEFENDER
DATE OF BIRTH: 06.06.90
Souare, who usually operates at left-back, was bought from Lille in 2015 and the Senegalese star has been an impressive figure during his time at Selhurst Park. He was a key player in the run to the FA Cup final in 2016, but in 2016-17 his campaign was curtailed by a serious car accident in September, 2016, meaning he missed the remainder of the season.

24 TIMOTHY FOSU-MENSAH

POSITION: DEFENDER
DATE OF BIRTH: 02.01.98
Dutch defender Fosu-Mensah was signed on a season-long loan deal from Manchester United by compatriot Frank de Boer in August this year. 18 JAMES MCARTHUR

POSITION: MIDFIELDER
DATE OF BIRTH: 07.10.87
McArthur signed for Palace from Wigan Athletic in September, 2014, and the hard-working midfielder is the kind of player who does not get the recognition he perhaps deserves. 42 JASON PUNCHEON

POSITION: MIDFIELDER
DATE OF BIRTH: 31.06.86
Local lad Puncheon joined Palace from Southampton in August, 2013, and has become a firm favourite with the Selhurst Park faithful. POSITION: FORWARD
DATE OF BIRTH: 03.12.90
The big Belgian became Palace's record transfer signing when he moved from Liverpool for a reported £27m in August, 2016. The former Aston Villa striker finished last season as the Eagles' top scorer with 17 goals from 40 appearances. He suffered a knee injury in September and is due to return to the first team in the coming weeks.

Andros showed his worth in and around the box last season with seven assists and three goals, including the club's Goal of the Season for a stunning finish against West Brom in February this year. The former Spurs and Newcastle United man is an important part of Palace's midfield due to his pace and trickery. The England international signed for the Eagles in the 2016 summer transfer window on a five-year deal.

The Mali international is equally comfortable playing centrally or on the wing and his versatility is a big bonus for the Eagles. He signed for the club from Wolves just before the opening of the 2015-16 season and scored on his debut against Aston Villa to immediately cement himself into the affections of Palace's fans. He played for both Mali and France as a youth player before opting for the former country and has represented them at the 2015 and 2017 Africa Cup of Nations.

DOUBLE EDGE

Derek Possee is a great example of the strength of Bill Nicholson's youth system of the 1960s. However, like so many of his former Spurs apprentice colleagues, he was another who had to go elsewhere to get a game.

The slight but elusive winger was born in Southwark and was playing for Surrey Schools when he joined us as an apprentice in July, 1961. He turned professional after two seasons and scored when he stepped up for his senior debut in a 3-1 First Division win over Aston Villa at White Hart Lane in January, 1964.

Derek scored regularly in our Reserves but suffered when it came to further first team opportunities as we were well served for wide men at the time with Cliff Jones and Jimmy Robertson playing regularly and others like Frank Saul, Terry Dyson and Neil Johnson among those also challenging.

After just 19 appearances, Derek was sold to Millwall where he was switched to a more central attacking position and thrived alongside fellow former Spurs youngster Keith Weller.

Possee subsequently switched to Selhurst Park in January, 1973, and then left Palace for Orient in the following year. He made the permanent move to Canada in 1977 where he played for Vancouver Whitecaps in the NASL and later coached.

Triple Measure

Mali international striker Freddie Kanoute scored a hat-trick when we knocked Palace out of the FA Cup by a 3-0 scoreline at the third round stage in January, 2004. Gus Poyet and Danny Butterfield were sent off late in the game with the latter claiming a case of mistaken identity! Palace were promoted from Division One that season.

LOCAL HERO

When Palace were promoted to Division One in 1969, we welcomed them to the top flight with 2-0 wins at home and away. And one of our scorers against them at the Lane in the December was Alan Mullery who would go on to manage the Eagles between 1982-84.

The England international midfielder joined us from Fulham in March, 1964, having made his debut as a 17-year-old for the Craven Cottage club and then helped the side to promotion to the First Division.

Taking over Danny Blanchflower's number four shirt and then succeeding Dave Mackay as captain, Mullers was certainly put to the test at Tottenham but he rose to every challenge with enthusiasm and inspired those around him with his boundless optimism and sheer graft.

After a wonderful playing career, he moved into management with Brighton in 1976 and then took over at Charlton, moving on to Selhurst Park in June, 1982, where he remained for two years before switching to QPR.

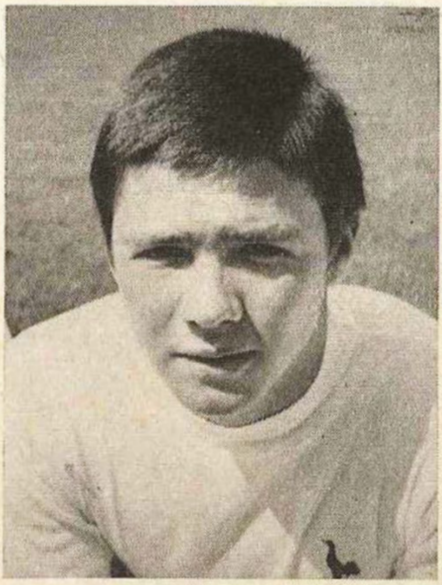
For Steve Perryman this has been a season of emergence. When the campaign opened in August, he had 14 Combination appearances to his credit. Now he has made 13 First Division appearances, commencing with the home match against Sunderland in September.

Steve was born at Ealing, and played for Ealing, London, Middlesex and England Boys. He played five times for the England Boys team, once at Wembley.

He joined Spurs as an apprentice in July, 1967, and was upgraded to full professional last January. He was a member of our party on the summer tour of the U.S.A. and Canada.

Steve has played in a number of England Youth trials this season.



STEVE PERRYMAN

MAIN ISSUE

The programme for Palace's visit to the Lane in on Boxing Day, 1969, wished everyone a Happy New Year on the cover. The game was staged on a Friday afternoon and we would play at Ipswich – and lose 2-0 - the following day.

It was a 16-pager that cost sixpence with light blue spot colour on the front and on two of the inside pages. A young lad in a crew cut was introduced as the programme pinpointed his "season of emergence." It was Steve Perryman who would score his first league goal against Palace that day. Whatever happened to him?

Meanwhile, four paragraphs on page five still resonate with me. We had all been at the Lane for an abandoned game with Everton when the floodlights failed.

An announcement over the PA on the night said that tickets would be valid for the re-arranged game. Now we were told in the programme that this would not be the case.

And with that statement went my pocket money for another week...

Front Page

Other news in 1969 saw Concorde make its maiden flight and oil discovered in the North Sea. The Rolling Stones performed free in Hyde Park, Tony Jacklin (pictured) became the first British golfer to win the Open since 1951 and the 35-year-old Kray twins were jailed for life.

There were riots in Northern Ireland, anti-apartheid demonstrators invaded the Twickenham pitch where the South African Springboks were playing and the experimental ban on capital punishment was made permanent.

The Club's Global Coaching team is launching our annual UK Summer Residential course taking place at our premium venue, Haileybury.

UK and international players are invited to take part in expert training sessions from our FA and UEFA-qualified coaches. The player development syllabus has been created by our Academy staff, focussing on every aspect of the game including goal scoring, defending, possession and domination.

Each residential training session is themed on a specific element in which our coaches use inspiration from the First Team and Academy to help develop the young players on the programmes. As part of the course, players will experience a coaching session, with a guest coach appearance, at our world-class Hotspur Way Training Centre. They will also experience performance testing, health and nutrition and match analysis workshops, providing a taste of what it is like to train as a Spurs player!

Catching up with the news from our Development Squad as they headed to Pride Park for their latest encounter.

Shilow Tracey looks for a way through against Derby

A deflected second-half goal saw our Under-23s leave Pride Park empty-handed recently as our struggles on the road continued against Derby County.

There wasn't much to choose between the sides in the Premier League 2 table before kick-off with us one place and one point behind the Rams in seventh – and in truth it was hard to separate the teams on a frustrating evening where chances were few and far between. The biggest opportunity of the first half came inside five minutes but goalkeeper Brandon Austin prevented Derby from taking it. After Luke Amos was caught in possession, Emil Jakobsen played Luke Thomas clean through the middle but his shot was at a good height for the advancing Austin to claw it away.

Centre-back Japhet Tanganga made a vital block from Jakobsen moments later while Derby had a couple of half-chances after that as the ball fell for both Guy and Max Bird to have a go from just inside the area but neither could find the target.

The second period looked like a slow burner until Marcus Edwards played Keanan Bennetts into space down the left and his angled drive glanced off the top of the crossbar on its way behind just over 10 minutes after the restart.

"THERE WASN'T AN INTENSITY TO OUR GAME LIKE THERE USUALLY IS AND I'M VERY DISAPPOINTED WITH THE RESULT"

But less than a minute later it was 1-0 to the home side as the ball was worked to Thomas in the right channel and his drive across goal took a wicked deflection off defender Christian Maghoma and wrong-footed Austin.

George Marsh had to be alert to hack the ball away with the goal gaping after Ethan Wassall's downward header back across goal from a free-kick before we went close with a set piece of our own. Edwards, felled 20 yards out, curled over the wall but Rams goalkeeper Josh Barnes got across to his right to beat it away.

"Individual performances weren't up to standard, a lot of our players didn't perform how we expect them to or how they expect to perform themselves," said coach Wayne Burnett. "There wasn't an intensity to our game like there usually is and I'm very disappointed with the result, but more disappointed with the performance.

"The goal was a catalogue of errors. We've not got into our shape quick enough, not covered quick enough, we were too deep, people haven't gone with their runners and if you don't fulfil your responsibilities and do the basics on the pitch, you're going to get punished and that's what happened for the goal.

"Did we have lots of the ball? Yes we did. Did we really hurt them in any way? No.

"The quicker we move on, the better, but when I say move on, we have to address this, we have to get better for sure and we have to do that very quickly."

Japhet Tanganga takes control

Delight for Japhet Tanganga after his equalising goal

LADS TURN ON THE STYLE TO ROCK REAL

Defender Japhet Tanganga came through a late fitness test and produced an excellent individual display to inspire our Academy side to victory against Real Madrid in the UEFA Youth League on Wednesday afternoon.

Coach Scott Parker revealed that the centre-half had been struggling with a knee problem before the game at Hotspur Way, but you'd never have known it as he came up with one of his trademark attacking headers to get us off the mark in the first half before manning the barricades brilliantly to deny the Spanish side a hatful of opportunities, seemingly getting on the end of everything that came into our box.

His was one of a number of good performances throughout the side as a Marcus Edwards penalty and a late Kazaiah Sterling strike secured a 3-2 victory and put us second in Group H, two points off leaders Borussia Dortmund, who we beat 4-0 on matchday one.

Real Madrid legends Raul and Roberto Carlos watched on from the crowd, while there was a more recent World Cup winner on the pitch as TJ Eyoma lined up a right-back for us, having been part of the England youth squad that lifted the FIFA Under-17 World Cup in India on Saturday

After a couple of early half-chances for us, Real almost took the lead against the run of play when Martin's strike from outside the area hit the base of Brandon Austin's right-hand post on six minutes. But on 20 minutes they did forge ahead when a set-piece routine caused us problems. The ball came in from the left side, it was only half-cleared and Cesar was able to lash into the net through a congested area from 18 yards out.

Our response came from an aerial assault seven minutes later and it was no more than we deserved after some bright play in the central areas. Keanan Bennetts was upended down by the corner flag on our left, Samuel Shashoua delivered the free-kick close to the goalkeeper at the back post but Tanganga arrived to get there first and nod into the net.

Oliver Skipp fends off the attentions of Real's Cesar

Quick thinking on behalf of a clutch of players then saw us take the lead just after half-time. Real skipper Gorka Zabarte was penalised for a foul on Sterling outside the box, Jack Roles took the free-kick quickly and played Sterling in, only for the striker to be brought down by Zabarte once more, this time in the box. The visiting captain received a yellow card for his troubles and we got a penalty, which Edwards duly dispatched.

The visitors cranked up the pressure and subjected us to a sustained period of attack. Tanganga repelled most of the balls into the box and Austin reacted well to block Miguel Baeza's shot, while the Spanish side's habit of shooting from range was as evident as it was in the first game in Madrid a fortnight ago, although again they failed to find the target. That was until the 61st minute when good play on the outskirts of the box saw the ball fall to Martin, who drilled into the net from 18 yards with the aid of a slight deflection.

Both goalkeepers were kept busy during an entertaining half before we forged ahead with what proved to be the winner on 82 minutes. Edwards supplied the pass, Sterling let it run onto his right foot as he darted between defenders and clipped his shot beyond Fernandez into the bottom corner. We had to hold our nerve after that with Oliver Skipp hurling himself in to make a vital block as we saw out a memorable win.

"The second half went away from us a little bit," said coach Scott Parker. "Although we came out, got the penalty and did really well at the start, I just felt like we lost our way a little and if I'm being brutally honest, you thought it might just be a matter of time before they equalised.

"But Kaz got the winner and we're ecstatic to be fair!

"It was a very good result and the boys dug in really well because it was tough. Japhet actually had a fitness test in the morning – he was struggling a little with his knee so it said a lot about him to be fair. I've been in these types of games and they test you as a player and I felt it showed a lot about our boys today, so it was pleasing."

When did you first start training for Spurs? At Under-6 level at the development centre in Hendon.

Who do you like to watch in training in our first team and why? Harry Winks. He's been produced by the Academy so he's a player for someone like me to look up to. He breaks up play, thinks quickly, he's got quick feet and gets around the pitch a lot.

Which overseas league do you follow closest and which players from it do you most appreciate? La Liga is the league I watch most aside from the Premier League and I like to watch Sergio Busquets from Barcelona. He plays in my position and he's an idol of mine.

Any other sports men or women in your family? No.

First family holiday? To Ireland when I was about two!

If you could meet anyone famous outside of football, who would it be and why? Roger Federer. He's so professional and he's a winner.

Which social media platform do you use most? Snapchat.

Josie Green forges a way through the Watford ranks

HONOURS EVEN DESPITE CHANCES GALORE

Only the frame of the goal denied Sarah Wiltshire a stoppage-time winner as Spurs Ladies drew 1-1 with Watford on their return to Women's Super League 2 action last Sunday.

Playing their first domestic game for three weeks, Karen Hills' side fell behind nine minutes into the second period at Kings Langley FC after the hosts had missed a first-half penalty.

But we responded with an equaliser after the interval and had a couple of chances to win it in a frantic end-to-end contest at Kings Langley, only to be left scratching our heads as to how the three points fell from our grasp.

Lucia Leon wheels away in celebration after her equaliser

We crafted out the first danger after five minutes. Ashleigh Neville floated a splitting pass to send Lauren Pickett away, which forced Watford goalkeeper Fran Kitching to rush out and gather. And just two minutes later Wiltshire crossing towards Wendy Martin, who beat Kitching but not the post.

The Hornets' Rinsol Babajide won a penalty when she went down under the challenge of Lucia Leon, but after stepping up to send Toni-Anne Wayne the wrong way, she saw her effort hit the post with 17 minutes played.

The woodwork was a prominent feature of the game as the home side again struck an upright six minutes before the interval through Danielle Puddefoot's effort from 30 yards out, while at the other end, Neville's inch-perfect pass sent Wiltshire through on the inside left, but she was off target.

Both sides tested the waters in a nine minute spell after the restart – but it was the hosts who took the lead on 54 minutes when Adekite Fatuga-Dada connected with a fierce volley from inside the area, which beat Wayne.

"WE WERE LEFT SCRATCHING OUR HEADS AS TO HOW THE THREE POINTS FELL FROM OUR GRASP IN A FRANTIC END-TO-END CONTEST"

The Lilywhites responded on 61 minutes through Leon, who arrived on the end of Jenna Schillaci's inside right free-kick, with her back-flick taking a touch off Fatuga-Dada on the way in.

That sparked a lively ending to the game as both teams went all out for the winner, with chances coming thick and fast.

Leon headed Wiltshire's corner wide of the right post six minutes later while Wiltshire shimmied past two challenges and struck a dipper which bounced into Kitching's path on 72 minutes. The same player then saw her strike from distance tipped over with a quarter of an hour remaining.

Watford's Merrick Will found herself through on our goal one-on-one, but she fired wide from distance while Helen Ward struck at the near-post which Wayne reacted to, making the stop.

Wiltshire's curling effort late on evaded both the upright and Baptiste bursting in at the back-post, but Hills' side could have won it in stoppage time when Martin's deft touch sent Wiltshire through on goal, but Watford defender Kylie McCarthy recovered to see the ball hit the post.

Spurs: Wayne, Leon (MacKenzie 78), Hector, Schillaci, Neville, Vio (Haines 80), Green, McLean, Pickett (Baptiste 59), Wiltshire, Martin. Substitutes (not used): Morgan, O'Leary

THE 100 CLUB
LES BENNETT

One of the stars of the 'Push and Run' side, Les Bennett was given special dispension to use his dribbling skills...

As a member of Arthur Rowe's "Push and Run" team, Les Bennett achieved considerable success with the Second and First Division titles in 1950 and 1951. But had it not been for the Second World War, there can be little doubt his career would have reached even greater heights and he would feature much further up our 100 Club goalscorers list than the 117 he did score.

A Wood Green lad, he was a schoolboy star in local football taken under our wing from an early age. After playing for Tottenham Juniors he was placed with the Northfleet United nursery that helped produce so many of our stars of the future, before making the move to the professional ranks at White Hart Lane in May, 1939.

Before his career could get under way war broke out but at least the disruption that followed, with normal football suspended and players returning home to prepare for defending their country, gave Bennett an early opportunity to show his talents. He made an impressive first team debut in November, 1939, scoring a hat-trick against Charlton Athletic in a Football League South game.

On being demobbed in March, 1946, he immediately established himself as our first choice inside-right and made his first Football League appearance in the opening game of the 1946-47 season. His first goal duly followed in the next match – a 3-2 defeat against West Brom at The Hawthorns.

At 28 he had lost his best years to the war but he still had enough time to carve a niche for himself in our history and make football fans wonder about what might have been.

Bennett possessed every attribute an inside-forward needed. Tall and well-balanced, he had the pace and long stride to take him away from a man, the close control to beat his marker in a confined space and a hunger for hard work. He knew just when to hold on to the ball, when to release it and when to strike for goal. He also had a flair for the unpredictable that would create openings from nothing and an elegance about his play that was almost balletic.

There was no finer sight than to see Bennett picking up the ball and striding through the midfield before spraying it out to the wing or slipping a short pass through a defence.

He also possessed fine dribbling ability, a talent that might have been out of place in a team based on the principle of passing the ball quickly, but Bennett was the one player given the freedom to run with the ball when he thought it best.

Bennett scored over 100 goals in League football alone, testament to his ability to find space and get into goalscoring positions, and he reached a century of Spurs goals in all competitions during an FA Cup fifth round tie at Halifax Town on Valentines' Day in 1953, scoring twice in our 3-0 win.

He was a stalwart of the "Push and Run" side, an automatic choice and when he was absent injured the team lacked something special. He deserved to play for England and was often on the fringe of selection but with competition from the likes of Ivor Broadis, Raich Carter and Wilf Mannion the nearest he got to a cap was to be 12th man on one occasion.

In 1954, Bennett was allowed to join West Ham United where he spent a year before dropping into the non-League game as manager of Clacton Town and Romford.

REIGNITING THE CAREERS OF LOCAL OVER 50S

Tottenham Hotspur has launched a new project, Reignite, which combines physical activity sessions with employment advice to help local unemployed people find work.

Targeting job seekers aged over 50 living in the local area, the programme will help participants to reignite their careers and work skills while encouraging more healthy, active lifestyles.

Evidence suggests that older job seekers are more likely to claim health or care related benefits, reducing their ability and availability to work. The new scheme will aim to support 100 people in the club's communities each year.

Tottenham Hotspur Foundation's Employment and Skills team will work with participants to build confidence and gain new skills as well as providing a platform to network and open doors to employment opportunities within the area.

Individuals on the programme will be offered tailored provision to help them re-engage into work, social activities and improved health and wellbeing.

The club will work closely with local and national employers to create opportunities for Reignite participants, bringing a new dimension to their workforce.

Sessions are delivered in community venues including sports centres, libraries and the 639 Centre on Tottenham High Road.

Elaine Patterson, aged 50 from Tottenham, was one of the first participants to join Reignite. She said: "The programme has exceeded my expectations. When I joined I was unemployed, lacked confidence, had very low self-esteem and hadn't exercised for years.

"I spent most of my days either sleeping, applying for jobs and generally lacking motivation to do anything constructive.

"After 10 weeks of working with the Foundation coaches, I've completely turned a corner. I'm more confident, I eat healthier, and as a result of incorporating regular exercise into my daily routine, I have more stamina and a better mental wellbeing.

"I haven't secured a job just yet but I know I will do soon because I have the confidence, drive and determination to succeed, and the continued one-to-one support from the Foundation.

"I'd definitely encourage people in Haringey who are struggling to find a job and aged over 50 to sign up to Reignite."

Nikki Kelly, Acting Chief Executive Officer, Tottenham Hotspur Foundation, said: "Employment and having a healthy lifestyle go hand-in-hand, which is why we are bringing Reignite to local residents to help empower older members of the community.

Elaine Patterson joined Reignite

"Participants can get support on refreshing skills, identifying core transferable skills, and work with our coaches to build confidence to ultimately help them find a job.

"Our first group of participants are already seeing positive changes as a result of Reignite, which is extremely encouraging.

"We look forward to helping more over 50s in the local community through through this unique programme."

YOUR CHARITY. OUR HEROES

The Tottenham Tribute Trust, together with Tottenham Hotspur, are delighted to be hosting Roger Hoy's wife, Julia and other family members at today's match against Crystal Palace

Roger came through our Academy and played 12 games for the club under Bill Nicholson between 1965-68 before transferring to this afternoon's opponents, spending two years at Selhurst Park.

After retiring from football, Roy and Julia emigrated to New South Wales, Australia, where they still reside today.

Sadly, Roger is receiving long-term nursing care as he suffers with Lewy's Body dementia.

Julia was able to contact the TTT entirely due to events and coverage of The Finale match at White Hart Lane, when the Club's shirt sponsor AIA generously agreed to allow the TTT logo be placed alongside their name on the players' match shirts and warm up tops.

Far away, literally on the other side of the world, Julia was watching the match, saw the logo and decided to research the Tottenham Tribute Trust. She made contact with them and they are delighted to have been able to offer some much-needed support to both Roger and the family.

The Spurs family is spread across the globe, and with support from both the Club and its sponsors, the TTT was able to reach out and offer a helping hand when needed.

Julia is accompanied by her brother and her grandson, who follow in the family tradition of supporting Spurs.

Julia commented: "Having read up on the work the Tribute Trust does for Tottenham's former players, I decided to make contact. Their swift and professional action led to some much-needed help for Roger and our family. I want to place on record my thanks to Tottenham Hotspur and the Tribute Trust for all they have done for us. Living on the other side of the world was no obstacle and it shows just how we are a big, global, happy family"

Our Chairman, Daniel Levy, added: "We continue to work closely with the Tribute Trust and their work ensures our former players are able to receive much needed help."

Tottenham Tribute Trust chairman, Jonathan Adelman, said: 'Our sincere thanks go to everyone at the Club for donating the hospitality today for Julia and her family, and for enabling a memorable experience for them all. This entire story illustrates succinctly the power of being able to project the name of our unique charity into the public domain, both here and abroad.'

The Tottenham Tribute Trust, a registered charity, was established by the Club and founder Trustees in 2002 and is the first of its kind. It is run by a board of independent, voluntary Trustees, often in conjunction with the work of the PFA. The TTT has quietly and compassionately assisted dozens of former players and staff in difficult times, alleviating need, offering assistance and providing much welcomed support.

You can help our former players by donating via our website at www.tottenhamtt.org/tottenham-tribute-trust-donations/

SPURS REMEMBERS

The Club has dedicated today's game in support of the Royal British Legion (RBL) Poppy Appeal, honouring all those Servicemen and women who have made the ultimate sacrifice in armed conflict.

Players will wear special-edition poppy branded match shirts which will later be signed and auctioned to raise funds for the RBL.

We shall observe a minute's silence prior to kick off, during which the Last Post will be played by a Trumpeter of the Central Band of the Royal Air Force.

We would like to remind all fans to please be respectful of this if entering the stadium close to kick off. Please note that the period of silence will start and end on the referee's whistle – not the end of the Last Post.

Service members of our Armed Forces Spurs Supporters' Club, representing the Royal Navy, Army, The Army Air Corps and Royal Air Force, will form a 'Guard of Honour' before the teams enter the field of play, led by Warrant Officer Mark Quickfall and Flight Lieutenant William Brooke. Two members of the Wembley Cadet Force will march to the centre circle and lay a wreath of poppies ahead of the minute's silence.

There will be 50 volunteers from the local RBL selling poppies to fans pre-match outside Wembley Stadium. Those yet to make a donation are encouraged to give generously by purchasing one of the paper poppies or one of this year's limited-edition dual-branded Tottenham Hotspur and RBL poppy pins, which are available in Spurs stores or online.

On behalf of everyone at Tottenham Hotspur, we would like to give a warm welcome to those in attendance today through the Tickets For Troops scheme.

The Club is delighted to have provided 600 free tickets to Tickets For Troops – an initiative that offers serving personnel and those medically discharged from the Forces since 2001, the well-deserved opportunity to enjoy an event of their choice with families and friends.

MY FAMILY LINKS TO LES BENNETT AND UNITING TROOPS THROUGH FOOTBALL

Today's Parade Commander leading troops in a Guard of Honour is Warrant Officer Class One Mark Quickfall, Regimental Corporal Major of the Household Cavalry Mounted Regiment, a Spurs fan and distant relative of our former player Les Bennett.

Les, who played for the Club between 1946-54, was one of many players whose footballing years were taken away by the Second World War. There is a full profile on him on pages 69-71 of today's programme.

Ahead of today's fixture, Mark spoke to us about the influence his family link to Les Bennett had on him becoming a Spurs fan and the role football can play in uniting Servicemen and women all over the world.

"I started supporting Spurs in 1989, inspired by the likes of Gazza and Lineker. I later discovered that my mother's cousin was a 1951 League title winner with Spurs, Les Bennett, who played 272 games and scoring 103 goals in the league.

"For me, finding this out as a 10-year-old sealed the deal for me. From then on, Spurs was my team.

"Les' football career was put on hold due to World War II, but his love for the game meant he returned to play after his service in Burma, India and Egypt.

"I have now served for 20 years in the Armed Forces and have been on tours to Iraq and Afghanistan. While in Afghanistan, if I had access to the internet, one of the first things I would do after returning from long patrols was to check on the football scores. I have found that during the tough times, in some very austere conditions, football has a uniting effect on the troops, giving a brief sense of normality and familiarity in some very unfamiliar locations and situations.

"It's an honour to be representing the Armed Forces, Les and Tottenham Hotspur in commanding this Guard of Honour today during this period of Remembrance."

Warrant Officer Class 1 Mark Quickfall

Welcoming Wembley Cadets

With the Club's presence in Wembley this season, we are honoured to have two local young people from the Wembley Cadet Force participating in today's Remembrance activities.

Cadet Company Sergeant Major Jeevan Mistry and Cadet Jenny El-Mast, from the Army Cadet Force 205 Wembley ACF Parachute Regiment, will march to the centre circle and lay a wreath of poppies to remember all those who have lost their lives fighting for their country.

Based just a short distance from Wembley Stadium, the Wembley Cadet Centre on Harrow Road is part of the Army Cadet Force, a national voluntary youth organisation with a membership of over 45,000 12-18 year-old boys and girls, operating in over 1,700 locations all over the UK. It aims to inspire young people to achieve success in life and provides opportunities for them to embark upon adventurous training activities while also learning military skills and ethos.

REMEMBERING FRED GRIFFITHS BY JOHN FENNELLY

A century after the start of one of the bloodiest battles of World War One, the country pays tribute to those who died in the Battle of Passchendaele. In three months of fighting, half a million Allied and German soldiers were killed with many more wounded or missing.

The conflict - officially known as the Third Battle of Ypres - was fought from July 31, 1917, until the November that year when the relentless rain caused the thick mud for which the occasion is also well remembered.

Among those brave men and women who made the ultimate sacrifice in that battle was former Spurs and Wales goalkeeper Fred Griffiths.

Born in Presteigne, Fred played locally in junior football before emerging at Blackpool. He made his senior Wales debut against Scotland at Aberdeen in February, 1900, and later that year played against England, making him the first Blackpool player to win an international cap.

He then moved south to join Millwall Athletic before joining our Southern League side in April, 1901. Fred was signed as understudy to our FA Cup-winning 'keeper George Clawley but had an extended run in the side in the middle of the season when Clawley was injured.

Sergeant Andrew Cromwell

Griffiths moved to Preston North End in March, 1902, and by the following September had joined West Ham United, ending his career with New Brompton in 1904.

Fred was working as a coalminer when he enlisted in the 15th Battalion, the Sherwood Foresters (Notts and Derby Regiment), where he reached the rank of Sergeant. The unit had originally been raised as a bantam battalion in Nottingham in 1915, which was ironic as Fred was 6'2" and described by author Bob Goodwin in his 'Spurs Alphabet' as "a fearless goalkeeper with an imposing frame and presence."

By 1917, Fred's battalion was part of the 35th Division that was called into the Battle of Passchendaele where sadly he was killed in action on October 30, 1917. He was aged 44. Four others of his battalion died that day with another 15 wounded.

Fred's Sherwood Foresters Regiment was amalgamated in 1970 with the Worcestershire Regiment, and, following two additional mergers due to a reorganisation of infantry, became the Second Battalion of The Mercian Regiment.

Present here today to represent The Mercian Regiment – the modern incarnation of the Sherwood Foresters – is Sergeant Andrew Cromwell, who will be giving the orders to Armed Forces Spurs during the pre-match parade.

Jermaine celebrates as the final whistle blows against Chelsea here in 2008

WEMBLEY MEMORIES

Each matchday, Andy Greeves speaks to a former Spurs player about their memories of Wembley Stadium during their career. This afternoon, Jermaine Jenas reflects on his various appearances at the 'Home of Football' for club and country.

Back in February, 2008, Jermaine Jenas experienced two career-defining moments at Wembley Stadium in the space of just 18 days. He scored his first and only goal for England in 21 international appearances in the Three Lions' 2-1 victory over Switzerland on February 6. Then, he was back in HA9 just under three weeks later to take his place in our starting XI as we beat Chelsea 2-1 after extra-time in the League Cup Final.

"It definitely felt like two big boxes had been ticked," smiles Jermaine, reflecting on his goal for England and the collection of the first major medal of his career. "The 2007-08 season was a special one for me. I was playing well for Spurs and had been starting for England too. Prior to the League Cup Final against Chelsea, I'd scored in both legs against Arsenal in the semi-final and I got my goal for England against Switzerland as well. I was actually carrying a bad ankle injury when all of those things happened, so I'm obviously relieved looking back that I was able to manage that injury and pull through."

Jenas' goal for England came on the occasion of his 18th senior international cap, with his strike putting the Three Lions 1-0 up against Switzerland just five minutes before half-time. In the second period, Shaun

Wright-Phillips got the winner for Fabio Capello’s side in their 2-1 triumph after Eren Derdiyok had equalised for the Swiss.

“There was a moment of brilliance from Joe Cole to create my goal,” recalls JJ. “He beat two or three players and pulled the ball across the six-yard box. In that situation, it’s almost about guessing where the ball is going to go and having the awareness to find the space. I made the right movement and the ball came to me on my left foot. Then it was just about concentrating, getting a good contact and luckily enough, it went in.

“When the ball hit the back of the net, a part of me wanted to run around and scream like a mad-man. I like to appreciate my team-mates though and as I was about to set off, I did a full circle and looked for Joey (Joe Cole). It felt right to say thank you to him for setting me up! It was a surreal moment to score for England at Wembley. Whenever I kicked a football around as a kid, I dreamed I was doing it at Wembley. To do it… well, it’s the sort of experience I will be telling the grandkids about in many years to come!”

In the League Cup Final later that month, Didier Drogba gave Chelsea a first-half lead that was cancelled out in the second period by a Dimitar Berbatov penalty. Early in extra-time, we were awarded a free-kick just inside the Blues’ half of the field. JJ took the kick, which ultimately served as the assist for our match-winner.

“I had taken a lot of free-kicks that year and I was really happy with my technique and where I was putting the ball,” says Jermaine, who netted 26 times in 202 appearances for us between 2005 and 2012. “Around that time, I always used to say to Ledley (King) and Woody (Jonathan Woodgate) when they came up from the back, 'run across the goalkeeper and block his line of sight'. I remember signalling to Woody to do just that as I went across to take the free-kick at Wembley. I knew when the ball had left my foot that the delivery was good and it was a magical moment to see it go in off Woody's nose!"

Jenas made his last international appearance at Wembley in August, 2008, as England drew 2-2 with the Czech Republic. His final caps for the Three Lions came in away matches – a 4-1 victory in Croatia in September that year and a 1-0 defeat to Brazil in November, 2009.

Previously, the former Nottingham Forest and Newcastle United man had been a part of a major piece of the stadium's history. He came on for David Beckham in England's 1-1 draw with Brazil on June 1, 2007 – the first full international match staged at the 'new' Wembley following its multi-million-pound reconstruction.

"It was a big occasion to play in that game there," comments JJ. "At that time, we (England) travelled up and down the country to play 'home' internationals and it was great to play at different venues and see different sets of supporters. But Wembley is England's 'home' in most people's minds and it was great to be playing back here against such a special opponent.

"There was a lot excitement about the 'new' Wembley and it was a real 'wow' moment seeing it for the first time. I don't think we trained here prior to the match, so that made it even more special, turning up on the day of the game having never been here before. Brazil had some incredible players in their team for that match, like Kaka and Ronaldinho, but it was important not to get caught up in the moment watching them as we had a job to do."

Jenas made three appearances for England at Wembley Stadium and played a further three games at the venue in our colours. Twelve months on from winning the League Cup, he again started for us in the final of the competition in 2009 and also featured against Barcelona in the Wembley Cup tournament later that year.

"The 2009 League Cup Final always feels like the 'one that got away'," laments JJ, on our penalty shootout defeat to Manchester United, after a 0-0 draw after extra-time.

"We were the dominant team for the 90 minutes and we did everything but score. Sir Alex Ferguson made some good substitutions that saw United begin to show their class as the match wore on and headed into extra-time. In a penalty shootout, you're hoping you can come out on top. United had some experienced penalty takers and that's what won in for them in the end."
